“Over the years I have read many of Sr. Elizabeth’s published canonical opinions; and, each time, I have been struck by the thoroughness of her research and the fidelity with which she explains the law of the Church. I eagerly look forward to being able to direct others to a single resource for her insights.”

“This comprehensive compilation of canonical reflections addresses every aspect of consecrated life in a professional, practical and pastoral way. It is a ‘must have’ reference for major superiors, bishops, and vicars for religious, as well as for men and women in any form of Consecrated Life desirous of living their vocations authentically in the heart of the Church.”

Sr. Eva-Maria Ackerman, FSGM
Director, Office of Consecrated Life – Archdiocese of St. Louis, 1996-2009

“For two decades Sister Elizabeth has been “canonical counsel” to hundreds of religious and their institutes, combining the best elements of the canonist’s art and science: fidelity to the values the law upholds, sensitivity to the practical circumstances where law is applied, and clarity of thought and expression. Her good advice in a single resource is a welcome treasure.”

“Good canonical advice with reference to consecrated life is always important, but especially in these days. It should be both consistent and thorough. Sister Elizabeth certainly provides that. She draws on Church history, theology, spirituality and canonical sources to present important material in a readily accessible and readable manner. This series of essays provides significant resources for leadership and members of all forms of consecrated life.”
